

Editorial Notes	1
Racism - The New Inheritors	Martin Barker 2
An Introduction to Derrida	D. C. Wood 18
Dialectic: A Reply to Keat and Dews	Roy Edgley 29
Discussion of Rip Bulkeley's 'On "On Practice"'	Richard Norman 35
Discussion
An Editor Speaks	Colin Gordon 38
Reviews
Ruben: Marxism and Materialism	Rip Bulkeley 40
Johansson: A Critique of Karl Popper's Methodology	David Murray 42
Matteucci: Antonio Gramsci e la filosofia della Prassi	Geoffrey Hunt 44
News
Althusser, The Party, Marxism	Paul Patton 46
Human Rights in West Germany	Mike Rosen 47
Books and journals received	49

Edited by: Mike Erben, Martin Barker, Rip Bulkeley, Eric Millstone, Kate Soper, Graham Burchell, David Murray, Noel Parker, Roy Edgley, Ted Benton, Colin Gordon, Russell Keat, Jonathan Ree, Wendy Harrison

Typing by Jo Foster

Sub-heads by Bread 'n Roses

Cover by Jacque Solomons

Design and layout by David Murray

printing by Spiderweb

Bookshop distribution by Publications Distribution Co-op, 27 Clerkenwell Close, London EC1 (01-251 4976)

CONTRIBUTIONS

If possible, send 3 copies of articles, clearly typed on A4 paper, preferably double spaced, and include a one-paragraph summary.

Editorial correspondence to Kate Soper, 37 Gladstone Place, Brighton, Sussex

Reviews and books for review to Graham Burchell, Westminster College, N. Hinksey, Oxford OX2 9AT

Business correspondence to:
Radical Philosophy c/o Richard Norman
Darwin College, The University
Canterbury, Kent

THE RADICAL PHILOSOPHY GROUP

The Radical Philosophy Group grew out of a convergence of two currents which had been largely formed by the student movement of the 1960s - on the one hand, discontent, especially among students, with the sterile and complacent philosophy taught in British universities and colleges; on the other hand, a revival of interest in the theoretical work on the left and a recognition of the need to confront the ideology enshrined in orthodox academic disciplines. The Radical Philosophy Group has always contended that these two problems can be tackled together - that philosophical inquiry into fundamental issues must lead to the exposure of conservatism masquerading as formal reason.

Academic philosophy in this country has generally accepted and defended the frame of reference of the dominant bourgeois culture. This culture is supported and mirrored by the elitist isolation, the internal hierarchies and demarcations, of academic institutions. The Radical Philosophy Group therefore works for reforms in courses and assessments for the enlargement of students' control over their education, for the breaking down of barriers between philosophy and other disciplines and between academic institutions and the outside world.

The Group has held several conferences, and local groups have been formed which have organised meetings and agitated on local issues. Radical Philosophy is the magazine of the Radical Philosophy Group, and has come out three times a year since January 1972. It aims to criticise the current state of philosophy in the English-speaking world and to encourage philosophical discussion on the left, and welcomes any contributions which will serve these aims.